

KOKE'E MUSEUM BINGO

Win two ways! Find 4 things in a row.

Draw a picture of the item to win. Find all the items to win blackout bingo. Everything should be found inside the Kōke'e Natural History Museum.

Iwa	Insect	Bell Stone	Shell
Trout	Pig	Pohaku	Saddle
Hawaiian Stilt	Rain Gauge	'Ohi'a	Cow Horns
Petroglyph	Shark Tooth	Goat	Moli

Kōke'e Museum Vocabulary

Bell Stone	Moli	Saddle
Cow Horns	'Ōhi'a	Shark Tooth
Goat	Petroglyph	Shell
Hawaiian Stilt	Pig	Trout
Insect	Pohaku
Iwa	Rain Gauge

EŌ E EMALANI I ALAKA'I

Hui o Laka celebrates Hawai'i's beloved Queen Emma and recalls her journey to the Kōke'e uplands and Kilohana vista in 1871.

The dowager Queen Emma, still despondent over the loss of her husband and only child, came to Kaua'i to regain her health and spirit. She had spent many visits to Kaua'i with her family in happier times. This time she came alone and stayed at a home she inherited at Lawa'i. She worked in her garden and met her neighbors.

On one such visit to Judge Kauai in Waimea, she told a story her husband had shared with her about a hunting trip in the mountains above Waimea and the splendid view. Queen Emma was determined to make the journey, so the judge asked a nearby rancher for a guide. To Kaluahi, the guide's surprise, more than 100 companions, eager for an adventure with their Queen came along. Along the way, she called for her court chanter to offer 'oli, great poems of appreciation, for the magnificence of the region's landscape and for its precious birds, trees, and plants. Other chants praised the monarch's courage to undertake the trek in the January cold. The delays turned the trek into an overnight stay in the soggy Alaka'i Swamp. As her companions became miserable, Emma sat upright and chanted ancient mele and cheerfully told her followers stories to endure a soggy night. Her heart was further uplifted by the beautiful view at the end of the trail overlooking Wainiha, Hanalei, and Kilauea – the breathtaking "Kilohana" she had been promised. When she returned, tales of her exploits were circulated in newspapers of the day. Many mele were composed honoring her as the traveler of the mountains. She had finally recovered her spirit and vigor in the swamp of the Alaka'i.

The 32nd Annual Eō e Emalani is a virtual presentation this year with 20 performers and halau taking part. The video release will be on October 10, 2020 and is supported in part by Hawai'i Tourism.

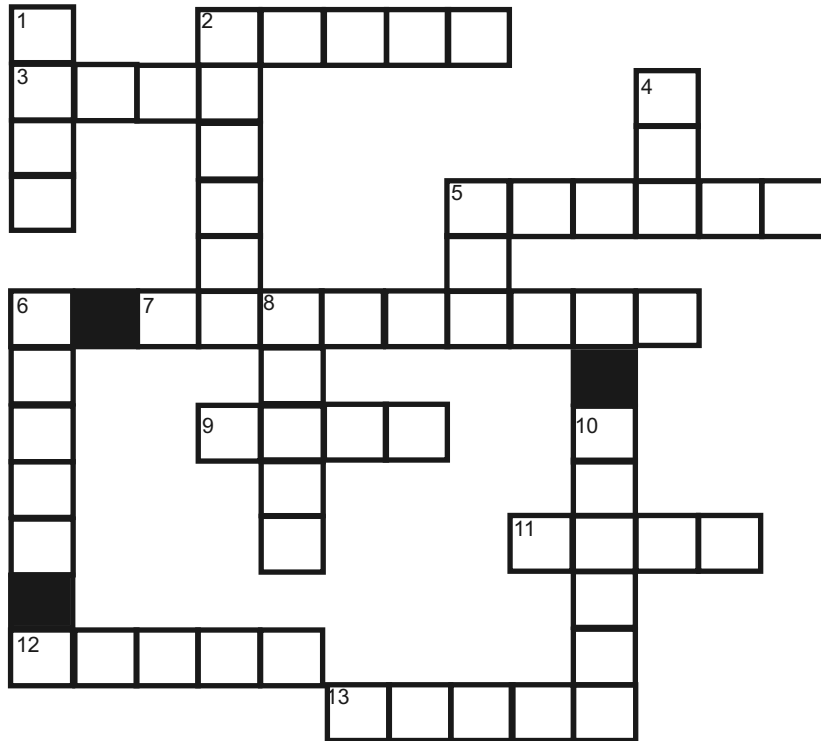

KOKE'E MUSEUM CROSSWORD

Across

2. Ocean predator.
3. Native tree with red blossoms.
5. Hawaiian word for stone or rock.
7. Picture carvings on rock.
9. Sure footed, horned animal.
11. ____ stone that rings when hit.
12. Container to measure water.
13. Native waterbird with long legs.

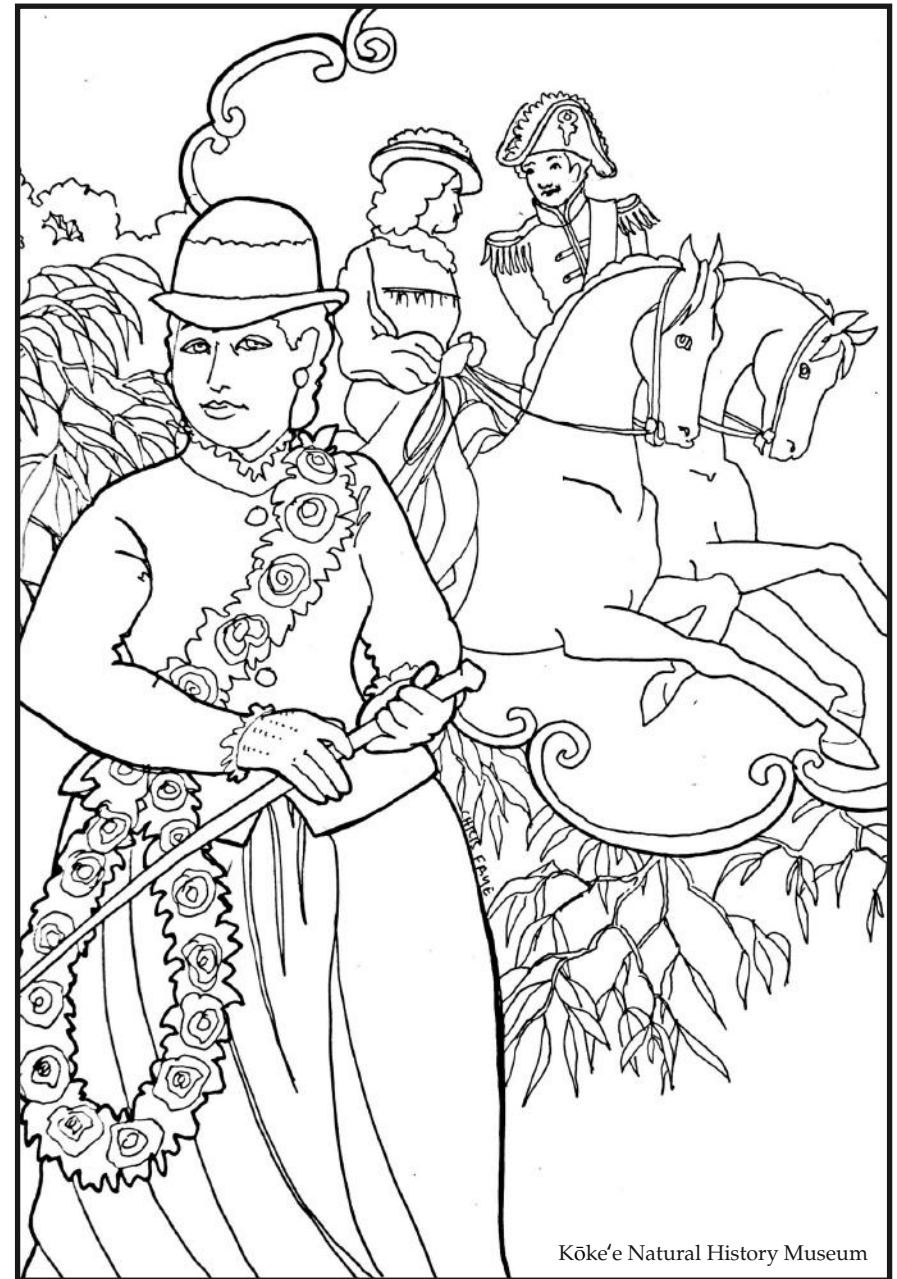

Down

1. Hawaiian name for albatross.
2. Horse riding equipment.
4. Great Frigate Bird.
5. Pua'a in English.
6. Ocean animals with a hard house.
8. Freshwater fish in Kōke'e reservoir.
10. What is a bug?

Kōke'e Museum Vocabulary

Bell	Moli	Saddle
Gauge	'Ōhi'a	Shark
Goat	Petroglyph	Shell
Insect	Pig	Stilt
Iwa	Pohaku	Trout

Kōke'e Natural History Museum

Queen Emma lost both her beloved husband, Alexander Liholiho, Kamehameha IV and young son within a year. She stayed on Kaua'i from 1870 to 1871. A trek through the Alaka'i Swamp with 100 supporters revived her spirit.